CHAPTER I - MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. Constituent Members

It is the goal of the World Medical Association to expand its membership to be representative of all the countries of the world. National Associations of Physicians (sometimes referred to herein as National Medical Associations) shall be eligible for Constituent membership in the Association, provided that each such National Medical Association meets the following criteria:

- A) Such association is broadly representative of the physicians of the country by virtue of its membership.
 - i) Membership in the national medical association is available to all licensed physicians in the country.
 - ii) The bylaws of the national medical association provide for a system of representation that includes opportunities for all physician members to participate in establishing the policy of the association.
- B) Such association is not an agency or office of the government, nor shall it be subject to or controlled by any office or agency of government. However, the fact that it may be subject to specific laws which are designed to limit or regulate the association shall not disqualify the applicant. The Council shall determine that the applying association is free to represent the professional interests of its physician members within the country, without political or governmental interference or control.
- C) Such association's policies and activities reflect the professional interests of physicians by limiting its voting membership to physicians and medical students.
 - i) For purposes of this section a physician is defined as one who has received a contemporary education in medicine and who holds a diploma or a degree in medicine from an educational institution recognized by the National Medical Association of his/her country, and who is licensed to practice medicine in his/her country.
 - ii) A National Medical Association that includes dentists in its membership shall not be disqualified from membership in the Association, provided that:
 - a) There is no separate National Association for dentists within the country, and
 - b) Dentists-Members of the National Medical Association shall not have the right to vote on matters affecting the World Medical Association or on matters of policy within the National Medical Association which may come before the World Medical Association.
- D) Only one National Medical Association from each country shall be eligible for membership, with the exception that an additional National Medical Association from that country may become a member under the following conditions:
 - i) If a separate customs territory exists within a country and the regulatory authority for the customs territory exercises exclusive legal and regulatory authority over the licensing and credentialing of physicians practicing within the territorial limits of the customs territory, and

- ii) The physicians in the customs territory are represented by a medical association that has been a Constituent Member of the World Medical Association for seven years or more,
and
- iii) The medical association represents and continues to represent physicians of the customs territory only, and
- iv) The medical association meets and continues to meet the criteria specified in this Section 1.

The term "country" throughout these Bylaws shall mean "customs territory" for members qualifying under these conditions.

- E) Subject to Subparagraph D, the Council shall not accept an application from a National Medical Association in any country already represented in the World Medical Association by a National Medical Association. If applications are received from two or more National Medical Associations from a country not already represented in the WMA, the Council shall recommend to the General Assembly the one applicant that best meets the criteria for Constituent Membership contained in the Bylaws.

Section 2. Admittance into Constituent Membership

Applications for Constituent Membership shall be made in writing to the Council and shall include copies of the current governing documents of the national medical association, such as, but not limited to, the Charter, and Articles and Bylaws of the Association. Applicants should be prepared to provide such other and further information and documentation as the Council may request. After appropriate study and investigation, the Council shall make a recommendation to the General Assembly. The affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the General Assembly present and voting shall be necessary to admit a candidate organization into Constituent Membership in the World Medical Association.

Section 3. Obligations of Constituent Members

In addition to any other duties or obligations provided for in these Bylaws, each Constituent Member association shall:

- A) Do all in its power to promote knowledge of, and an active interest in, the objectives and work of the Association;
- B) Reply to inquiries and questionnaires from the Council as quickly as possible or within the time limit specified by the Council; and
- C) Keep the Council informed of any events or developments in its country that may be of interest to the Association.

Section 4. Discipline

On receipt of a complaint from a constituent member that the conduct or policy of a constituent member is detrimental to the honor and interests of the medical profession, to the Association, or to another constituent member, or is calculated to bring the profession into disrepute, the Council shall submit said complaint to the constituent member concerned for a response. If deemed appropriate, the Executive Committee shall gather additional information and conduct an independent review of that information. If an Executive Committee member is a member of either the complaining party or the subject of the complaint, or has any other real or perceived conflict of interest, he or she shall be excused from participating in any effort by the Executive Committee to gather or assess information. The complaint, the reply received, and any information obtained by the Executive Committee shall be considered at the next meeting of the Council, at which representatives of both parties shall be given the opportunity to speak. At least four months notice shall be given to each party of the time and place of the meeting. The proceedings of the meeting, however, shall not be invalidated by the absence of a representative of the defendant association, if due notice has been given. If it is determined by the Council that the complaint has substantive merit and requires action by the subject of the complaint the aim of this process is to correct the substantive content of that complaint and resolve any dispute. If the Council wishes to recommend disciplinary action, after due consideration of all the information and if efforts for dispute resolution are unsuccessful, the Council shall provide a written report to the General Assembly, including all necessary documentation related to the matter. In no event shall disciplinary action imposed by the General Assembly be greater than the penalty recommended by the Council in its report.

Section 5. Termination of Membership

- A) The Council, after notice to the Constituent Member concerned may, at any time, advise the General Assembly that the Constituent Member no longer meets the criteria established in the Bylaws and that its membership should be revoked. The Council shall specify the basis for its conclusion, providing specific information and evidence to support it. The General Assembly may either accept or reject the Council's advice.
- i) If the General Assembly rejects the Council's advice, the matter is terminated and the National Medical Association in question shall retain its Constituent Membership. However, no such rejection by the General Assembly shall prevent further advice from the Council at a later date.
 - ii) If the General Assembly accepts the Council's advice, it shall direct the National Medical Association in question to respond to the specific basis of the Council's contention at the next meeting of the General Assembly, at which time the General Assembly will hear such evidence and argument as it deems appropriate, and shall then determine by vote of the General Assembly whether the National Medical Association meets the criteria for Constituent Membership or not. In no event shall membership be terminated prior to the end of the calendar year.
- B) In the event that a constituent member has not paid its dues for two consecutive calendar years, the Secretary General shall formally notify such constituent member in writing that its membership may be terminated unless payment is received within 90 days. The Secretary General shall attempt to ascertain the reason for non-payment and may, at his/her discretion and in consultation with the Chair of Council and the Treasurer, provide a one year extension for the dues payment or make other suitable arrangements to help the member avoid termination. The Council shall be informed of those constituent members that have been terminated for failure to pay dues.

- C) Voluntary resignation by a member of the World Medical Association shall be made in writing and shall become effective upon receipt by the Secretary General.
- D) A Constituent member that has voluntarily resigned, or has been terminated for non-payment of dues, may not return to membership except by compliance with the provisions of Chapter I, Section 2 of these Bylaws.

Section 6. Other Classifications of Membership

Upon recommendation of the Council, the General Assembly may establish such other classifications of membership as may be deemed to be appropriate and in the best interests of the Association. The rights and privileges as well as the dues for such other classifications of membership shall be established by the General Assembly pursuant to the recommendation of the Council.

CHAPTER II - REGIONS

Section 1. Regions

For purposes of determining the membership of the Council of the Association and to otherwise assist in the administration of the affairs of the Association, the geographic regions indicated below shall be designated as Regions within the Association. The Secretary General shall maintain an up-to-date list of all Constituent Members and the region to which each has been assigned.

- A) Europe
- B) Asia
- C) Pacific
- D) Latin America and the Caribbean
- E) Africa
- F) North America
- G) Eastern Mediterranean

Section 2. Regional Secretariats

The Constituent Members of the Association within a Region may establish a Regional Secretariat to administer such matters within the Region as the Constituent Members deem advisable. The establishment of a Regional Secretariat shall not be construed as the creation of an official regional chapter or any other formal body of the Association.

- A) The establishment of such Regional Secretariat is voluntary. The expenses of its operation shall not be charged to the Association.

- B) The terms and conditions for the operation of a Regional Secretariat shall be determined by the Constituent Members within the Region and shall be the responsibility of such Constituent Members.
- C) Any Regional Secretariat shall be under the direction of the Secretary General and shall report to the Secretary General upon request.
- D) A regional Secretariat cannot act on behalf of the Association.

Section 3. Regional Meetings

Regional meetings of Council Members or of Constituent Members may be conducted, but shall not constitute meetings of the Association and cannot obligate the Association to any policy position adopted at any such regional meeting.

CHAPTER III - DUES

Section 1. Determination of Amount

The amount of dues for all members shall be determined by the Council, subject to ratification by the General Assembly.

Section 2. Assessment and Due Date

All dues provided for by this chapter shall be assessed on an annual basis for each calendar year and shall be due and paid on the first day of January in each year.

Section 3. Delinquency

No Constituent Member shall be permitted to vote in the Council or the General Assembly of the Association unless the dues of said member shall have been paid in full prior to the meeting of the Council or the General Assembly, as the case may be. This requirement may be waived for one year due to extenuating circumstances by the Secretary General in consultation with the Chair of Council, the Chair of the Finance and Planning Committee and the Treasurer.

CHAPTER IV - GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Section 1. Meetings

- A) The General Assembly of the World Medical Association shall meet annually. Meetings of the General Assembly shall be held at such time and place as determined by the General Assembly on the recommendation of Council. However, if necessary in the sole judgment of the Council, the time and place of such meeting may be changed by the Council.
- B) A special meeting of the General Assembly shall be convened at any time by the Council or at the request of not less than 20% of the number of Constituent Members. At least three months notice of special meetings shall be given to the members of the General Assembly. The notice shall state the place and purpose of the meeting. No business shall be dealt with by a special meeting of the General Assembly other than that for which it has been specifically convened.

The Executive Committee may advise the Secretary General to prepare such special Assembly as plain virtual meeting. In such case the time for notification may be reduced to not less than one month.

- C) All meetings of the General Assembly shall be open to all members of Constituent Members of the Association.

Section 2. Responsibilities of the General Assembly

The General Assembly shall:

- F) consider and act upon an estimate of probable income and expenditure (budget) for the next year;
- G) consider the annual Report of the Council to the General Assembly and motions relating to the adoption of the Report in whole or in part, and arrange for such action to be taken thereon as may seem appropriate;

Section 3. Composition

The General Assembly shall be composed of the following:

- A) Delegates appointed by the Constituent Members of the Association in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter. Each Constituent Member shall be entitled to appoint one delegate to the General Assembly for each 10,000 physician members of the national medical association, and/or each portion thereof, provided that the Constituent Member shall have paid its dues to the World Medical Association in full, based upon such membership. (For example, a Constituent Member that pays WMA dues for 6,500 physician members shall be entitled to one General Assembly delegate. A Constituent Member that pays WMA dues for 24,900 physician members shall be entitled to three delegates.) Such delegates shall be the only members of the General Assembly with the right to vote. Constituent members may also appoint one or more alternate delegates, who may attend meetings of the General Assembly and may vote in the absence of any delegates.

- B) Officers and Members of the Council of the Association, who shall have the right to speak on the floor of the General Assembly, but shall not be entitled to vote.
- C) Such others as may be granted the right to speak on the floor of the General Assembly, at the discretion of the presiding officer, but not the right to vote.

Each Constituent Member shall notify the Secretariat of the names and contact information of its delegates and any alternate delegates appointed, within the deadline established by the Secretary General. The Secretary General shall ensure that each delegate and alternate delegate is duly registered and provided with a WMA badge properly identifying him/her as a delegate or alternate delegate.

Section 4. Qualifications and Certification of Delegates and Alternate Delegates

Each delegate and alternate delegate appointed by a Constituent Member shall:

- A) hold a diploma or degree in medicine recognized by the national medical association of his/her country;
- B) be licensed to practice medicine in that country;
- C) be a member of his/her national medical association; and
- D) be resident in the territory of that association.

It shall be the responsibility of each Constituent Member to ensure that the individuals it appoints to serve as delegates and alternate delegates meet this criteria. Such assurance shall be made on forms provided by the Secretary General over the signature of the responsible officer of the Constituent Member and the seal of said National Medical Association.

Section 5. Credentials Committee

- A) Prior to each meeting of the General Assembly, the Council shall appoint a Credentials Committee composed of three delegates from different Constituent Members to:
 - i) Verify that Constituent Members present to participate in the General Assembly have paid their dues and are members in good standing;
 - ii) Verify the number of votes to which each Constituent Member is entitled (See Section 6.A. below);

- iii) Calculate the total number of collective votes in the General Assembly, according to the number of delegations present and the votes to which each delegation is entitled;
- iv) Calculate the number of votes required for a simple majority and a $\frac{3}{4}$ majority (required for the adoption of policies related to matters of medical ethics); and
- v) Assist the Secretary General in coordinating the voting process if there is more than one nominee for WMA president, and verify the results of all rounds of voting.

The Secretary General shall furnish the Credentials Committee with all documentation necessary to carry out the duties described above.

- B) The Credentials Committee shall complete the work described in A) i), ii), iii), and iv) prior to the opening of the General Assembly. The Committee shall present a report with its conclusions to the General Assembly during the first Plenary Session, before any business requiring a vote is transacted.
- C) The members of the Credentials Committee, collectively, shall be proficient in all official languages of the Association. They shall select a representative from among themselves to present the Credentials Committee's report to the General Assembly.
- D) The Credentials Committee shall assist the Secretary General in counting the votes cast during the election of a new President and shall verify the election of the individual receiving the highest number of votes, in accordance with the election process outlined in the Procedures and Operating Policies of the World Medical Association.
- E) The Council shall establish such other rules for the Credentials Committee as it may deem necessary.
- F) The Credentials Committee shall be automatically dissolved upon the adjournment of the General Assembly.

Section 6. Voting in the General Assembly

- A) Each Constituent Member shall be entitled to one vote for each 10,000 physician members, and/or portion thereof, for which that Constituent Member has paid dues to the World Medical Association. The delegate or delegates of each Constituent Member present in the General Assembly will cast all of the votes to which the Constituent Member is entitled under these Bylaws. It shall not be necessary to have a separate delegate present in the General Assembly to cast each vote. However, no vote by proxy shall be permitted on behalf of a Constituent Member not in attendance at the meeting.

In case a delegation participates online, the delegation must designate a voting delegate before the meeting to be registered with the voting system used.

- B) Unless otherwise required under the Articles of the Association or these Bylaws, any matter before the General Assembly shall be adopted by a simple majority of the votes given thereon.
- C) Proposed Declarations, Statements or Resolutions of the Association determined by the Council to be matters of medical ethics shall require for adoption the affirmative vote of $\frac{3}{4}$ of the General Assembly delegates present and voting.

- D) The adoption of any proposal on an urgent matter shall require the affirmative vote of three-quarters of the Assembly delegates present and voting.
- E) A motion to vote by secret ballot shall require the affirmative vote of a majority of the Assembly delegates present and voting.
- F) The election of the President shall be decided by secret ballot unless there is only one candidate nominated, in which case election may be by acclamation. If there are more than two candidates for any office, no candidate shall be declared elected unless he or she has received a majority of the votes cast. If no candidate has received a majority of the votes cast, then the name of the candidate receiving the smallest number of votes shall be dropped and the remaining candidates shall be voted on again until one receives a majority.

Section 7. Quorum

- A) The presence in person or virtually (as recorded by the voting system applied) of the delegates or alternate delegates representing not less than 20% of the number of Constituent Members entitled to vote and representing not less than 20% of the potential number of votes by all Constituent Members entitled to vote shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business by the General Assembly. The same requirement shall apply to special meetings of the General Assembly. It shall be the responsibility of the Credentials Committee to confirm that a quorum is present and report the status of the quorum to the General Assembly at the beginning of the plenary session of the meeting, prior to the consideration of any business requiring a vote.
- B) A General Assembly meeting must have a quorum. A General Assembly cannot officially continue when a quorum is called for and is not present, even if it was validly opened with the required quorum. It is presumed that a quorum continues throughout a properly constituted meeting until such time a quorum count is demanded and a quorum is not present. Each quorum count must be noted in the minutes by recording the numbers obtained.

Section 8. Presiding Officer

- A) The Chair of Council, or in his/her absence, the Vice-Chair of Council, shall preside at all business meetings of the General Assembly.
- B) The President shall preside at all official social sessions, ceremonial sessions, and plenary sessions of scientific meetings of the General Assembly, assisted, as needed, by the President-Elect and Immediate Past President.

Section 9. Procedure

Procedures for conduct of business of the General Assembly shall be established by the Council, including processes for the submission of items for the agenda, and these shall be described in a separate document, "Procedures and Operating Policies of the World Medical Association."

Section 10. Minutes

The Secretariat shall keep minutes of each meeting of the General Assembly, and shall transmit the minutes to Constituent Members, in all official languages of the association, within two months of the meeting. The minutes shall be presented to the General Assembly for approval at its next meeting.

CHAPTER V - COUNCIL

It shall be the duty of the Council of the World Medical Association to administer the affairs of the Association in accordance with the provisions throughout these Articles and Bylaws. The Council shall exercise only such additional powers and perform only such acts as may be exercised or performed by the Association and which are not by the provisions of the Articles and Bylaws directed to be exercised or performed by the General Assembly.

Section 1. Meetings of the Council

- A) The Council shall meet at least once each year and at such other times as the Council may deem to be necessary and shall consist of the voting members of the Council, and of the non-voting members of the Council: the Additional Standing Committee Members, ex-officio members of the Council and the Secretary General. Observers may attend at their own expense, but have no vote. Meetings shall be held at such places as the Council may determine upon not less than one month's notice.
- B) The organizational meeting of the Council shall be the first meeting of the Council following the election of Council Members. The main business shall be the election of Officers, the appointment of Committees, the organization of the Committees, necessary action on business referred to the Council by the General Assembly, business referred from previous Council Sessions, discussion of main topics for the forthcoming General Assembly, and any unfinished business from previous meetings.
- C) Special meetings of the Council may be called by the Chair of the Council after consultation with the Secretary General of the Association, or on the request of not less than a majority of the members of the Council, specifying the purpose for which the special meeting is being called. At least one month's notice of the time and place of the special meeting shall be provided to all members of the Council. The purpose for which the special meeting is being called shall be specified in the notice.

The Executive Committee may advise the Secretary General to prepare such a special meeting of the Council as plain virtual meeting. In such case the time for notification may be reduced to not less than two weeks.

- D) No business shall be transacted at a special meeting of the Council other than that for which such meeting is called.
- E) All meetings of the Council shall be open to official representatives of all Constituent Members of the Association, except "closed" sessions or "executive" sessions, as described in the Procedures and Operating Policies of the World Medical Association.
- F) Standing Committees of the Council shall be:
 - i) Finance and Planning
 - ii) Socio-Medical Affairs
 - iii) Medical Ethics

Section 2. Members of Council

Council Members shall be selected on a regional basis, as follows:

- A) For each official WMA region (see Chapter 2), there shall be one seat on the Council of the Association for every fifty thousand (50,000), or portion thereof, physician members of National Medical Associations that are Constituent Members of the Association within the region, provided that dues shall have been paid in full based upon such membership.
- B) In each region, any Constituent Member of the Association with more than fifty thousand (50,000) physician members may appoint one member to the Council of the Association for every fifty thousand (50,000) physician members of the Constituent Member, provided that the Constituent Member shall have paid its dues in full, based upon such membership.
- C) In each region, Council seats not filled pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph B) above, shall be filled by vote of the Constituent Members within the region. Each Constituent Member shall have as many votes as they have physician members, provided that the Constituent Member shall have paid its dues in full based upon such membership. Provided further, however, that a Constituent Member that has appointed one or more members to the Council of the Association pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph B) above, shall reduce the number of its votes under the provisions of this subparagraph C) by fifty thousand (50,000) for each member of the Council it has appointed under the provisions of subparagraph B) above.
- D) In each region, the election provided for in subparagraph C) above shall be conducted by the Secretariat, under such procedure as the Secretary General shall prescribe, which shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of these Bylaws.

Section 3. Ex-Officio Members of Council

The President, President-Elect and Immediate Past President shall be Ex-Officio Members of the Council without the right to vote.

Section 4. Qualifications of Council Members

Members of the Council shall at all times be physician members of Constituent Members in good standing with the Association. Members of the Council shall not hold the office of President-Elect, President or Immediate Past President while they are serving as members of the Council.

- A) Constituent Members may appoint a substitute or alternate for any Council Member appointed by the Constituent Member or elected from its membership to the Council in the Regional election, provided that such substitute or alternate meets the qualifications set forth this Section. Provided further that the Constituent Member shall so notify the Secretary General as soon as possible prior to any meeting of the Council at which such substitute or alternate will serve.
- B) Constituent Members may appoint a successor to fill any vacancy caused by the death, resignation, or inability to serve of a Council Member appointed by the Constituent Member or elected from its membership to the Council in the Regional election, provided that such successor meets the qualifications set forth this Section. Constituent Members shall so notify the Secretary General promptly after the vacancy occurs. Alternatively, at the Constituent Member's request, the Secretary General shall conduct a special election in the appropriate region to elect a successor to fill the remainder of the term of said Council Member.

- C) No individual may serve as a Council Member, unless and until the individual's National Medical Association has certified that the individual is a member of the National Medical Association and that the individual's character, integrity and competence are beyond reproach, and therefore the individual is qualified to serve as a member of the Council of the World Medical Association. Such certification shall be made on forms provided by the Secretary General over the signature of the responsible officer of the Constituent Member and the seal of the National Medical Association.
- D) During his/her term of service, each member of the Council shall maintain his/her professional reputation as a qualified and ethical physician, so as to enhance the public image of the physician worldwide, and shall each use his/her best efforts to enhance the standing and reputation of the World Medical Association.

Section 5. Terms of Council Members

Council Members shall serve for a term of two years, and shall be eligible for re-appointment or re-election at the pleasure of their National Medical Association, provided that they meet the qualifications set forth in Section 4 of this Chapter.

Resignation from or termination of membership of a Constituent Member shall automatically terminate the term of any Council Member appointed or elected from its membership pursuant to Section 2 of this Chapter. Upon such resignation or termination the Secretary General shall determine if the region is entitled to replace said Council Member under the provisions of Section 2 of this Chapter. If the region is entitled to replace said Council Member, the Secretary General shall conduct an election within the region to elect a Council Member to fill the remainder of the term of said Council Member.

Section 6. Additional Standing Committee Members

Additional Standing Committee members shall be selected on a regional basis as follows:

- A) Each Constituent Member that has not had an individual member selected during the current Council Election is eligible to nominate and elect an individual from that Constituent Member to be a member to the Standing Committees of the Council provided that dues have been paid in full based upon membership. Such election shall take place immediately after the Council Members have been selected.
- B) In each region, the eligible Constituent Members shall elect one additional Committee Member, to be assigned to Standing Committees, in accordance with the number of votes equal to the number of declared members.
- C) In each region, the election provided for in subparagraph B) above shall be conducted by the secretariat, under such procedure as the Secretary General shall prescribe, which shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of these bylaws.
- D) The elected Additional Standing Committee members will have the same voting privileges as Council Members in the Standing Committees they are assigned to. Additional Standing Committee members shall attend Council Sessions without voting rights.

Section 7. Chair and Vice-Chair
